Unto the populace of Atlantia, greetings from Alisoun MacCoul of Elphane, Golden Dolphin Herald!

The Laurel Office has notified us of the results of its considerations at the meetings in November, 2005. These results were conveyed in a letter received in Atlantia on 17 February, 2006.

ACCEPTANCES:

The following items were REGISTERED by the Laurel Office:

Allastair Sterling. Device. Argent, a cross of Cleves and on a chief azure, a fox courant argent.

Angus Ó Coileáin. Device. Per saltire Or and gules, in pale two thistles and in fess two lions combatant, all counterchanged.

Annora Hall. Device. Gules, a dragonfly and a gore argent.

Bright Hills, Barony of. Badge. Per bend sinister sable and azure, on a heart argent a decrescent sable.

Diego Lopes de Toledo. Name and device. Argent, on a bend gules between a cross patonce azure and a frog vert three scimitars palewise argent.

Elena di Salaparuta. Change of device. Vert, a gillyflower and on a chief Or three bunches of grapes purple.

Elena di Salaparuta. Badge. Per bend sinister Or and vert, a bunch of grapes bendwise sinister purple and a gillyflower Or.

Estienne de Condé. Name and device. Argent, three falcons vert.

Geoffrey de la Beche. Device. Per pale azure and gules, on a pile Or a cypress tree proper. Originally blazoned as a beech tree, the Laurel staff modified the blazon to a cypress tree because they felt that the depiction of the tree on the emblazon was too conical for a beech tree. (Though the submitter desired a tree that played in the blazon upon his registered name, it is the picture that is registered not the verbal description.)

Hawkwood, Barony of. Name for the Award of the Silver Wings of Hawkwood.

Juliane Condie. Name. Because the submitter had requested authenticity for Elizabethan England, the Laurel staff modified the name from the submitted form Julianne de Condé which was documented as French.

Katharina von Bayern. Device. Azure, a two-headed eagle Or charged on the breast with a lozenge azure and on a chief Or three lozenges azure.

Marmaduke Constable. Name.

Matthew of Marinus. Device. Sable, a bend between two mullets of eight points Or.

Millicent Chandler. Change of name from Melissent d' Artois.

Rhys Cantor. Name.

Siegfried Sebastian Faust. Change of device. Azure, a crossbow inverted argent. His old device (“Per bend sinister azure and vair-en-pointe, in dexter chief a flamberge bendwise sinister inverted argent.”) is now a badge.

Tir-y-Don, Barony of. Name and badge for the Order of the Skate. (Fieldless) A manta ray tergiant sable grasping in its tail a sheaf of arrows Or. The name had been submitted as the Order of the Sable Skate. In registering the order name, the Laurel staff ruled again that the current precedent bans the use of heraldic tinctures with English charge names in order names, a ban that had been under discussion at the time the order name was submitted. Because the submitters allowed changes, the Laurel staff felt that they did not have to return the order name and could register it as either the Order of the Black Skate or the Order of the Skate and felt that simply dropping the adjective was less intrusive than changing it. The Laurel staff also made a distinction between a manta ray and a skate in appearance and so changed the blazon to match their interpretation of the emblazon. They also noted that there is a specifically period depiction of a skate in the Macclesfield Psalter dated to 1330 at www.fitzmuseum.cam.ac.uk/gallery/macclesfield/gallery.html and suggested that the Barony could register that depiction if it desired to keep the term skate.

Wolfgang Monnich von Luppın. Device. Checky argent and sable, on a pale gules three crosses formy argent. This device was approved at the November, 2006, Laurel meeting, but was omitted from the letter received on 17 February. However, the Laurel staff has confirmed via email that it was registered in November and a note to that effect will appear with the letter from Laurel issued in conjunction with the December acceptances and returns.

RETURNS:

The following item was RETURNED by the Laurel Office:

Lidia de Ragusa. Device. Per bend sinister bevelled azure and argent, a sun in splendor Or and a fox passant azure. This armory was returned by the Laurel staff on stylistic grounds because of a precedent — unmentioned in previous returns — limiting the use of the bevelled line of division to cases where identical types of charges are on either side of the line of division.

Your servant,

Alisoun
